Scott Thornton positions himself philosophically, somewhere between Gary Bettman believe this is a lawsuit without merit, and the class action lawyers assertion that NHL has known or should have known about the long term effects of concussions. As we speak however, the 1989 Toronto Maple Leafs first rounder and current Battle of the Blades champion is sitting behind the wheel of his Ford F 150, driving home from a consultation with an orthopedic surgeon. Another shoulder operation before Christmas, he reports, will be my 15th surgery.

One thing was for certain, though. Any fan base which still supports its teams through years of losing seasons is guaranteed to be ranked favorably in my book. That's probably the most important test of being a fan. Compared to some of the other players on this list, Lawton numbers (112 goals and 266 points in 483 games) may not be so dismal though they never came close to justifying his being the top pick. The real pain comes when you look at what could been for the North Stars in what was a rich draft class in the wound: Pat LaFontaine (No. 3), Steve Yzerman (No.

The lack of touchdowns is nothing new for Witten, as he had just four the season before. I still like Witten, because his yardage is steady. While some fantasy players live and die by the touchdown, Witten can have a great fantasy day even without sniffing pay dirt.

Pats have had 9 or more wins for 15 straight years (only in 2002 were they 9 7, rest of the years 10+ wins) FIFTEEN STRAIGHT YEARS lost two cornerbacks one pretty good and one great but both with only a few good years left. Pats were the youngest team to win a SuperBowl in NFL history this year. It is insane to even think they have a chance of missing the hoodies playoffs with all the young defensive players and offensive weapons around an extremely effective HOF QB who has a winning pct.
