In Week 17, Cassel led the Patriots to their fourth consecutive win, 13 0 over the Buffalo Bills in a game marked by winds so severe that they bent the goalposts both before and during the game.[42] Cassel completed 6 passes out of just 8 attempts, the second lowest attempt total in franchise history (the lowest being the 5 attempts of the 1982) Snowplow Game).[8] Cassel finished with 78 yards, zero touchdowns, and zero interceptions: his most notable play, however, was a quick kick punt on third down in the fourth quarter; with the wind at his back, Cassel's kick landed inside the 20, and then rolled towards the Bills' end zone before it was downed, stranding the Bills at their own 2 yard line, struggling against the wind, down two scores with five minutes remaining. Cassel, in the last year of his four year rookie contract, was scheduled to be an unrestricted free agent in 2009. Given the quality of his performance, and the uncertainty over Brady's recovery, NFL analysts and reporters raised the question of whether the marquess wilson jersey Patriots should, or would, franchise Cassel[43][44] less than three months after some of those same reporters predicted Cassel would be cut from the team.[45].
