How this can be taken to the next level? I think this could be a very powerful tool for users on a budget; it gives you an objective way of comparing different tiers of IF's and determining the best choice for your budget/needs. While I realize, as an example, that this cannot be used independently and has limitations due to some of the players not having appropriate cap ratings, I believe it could be an excellent tool when comparing either 2 different players or two different versions of a card, in order to make a conscious, statistical decision based in facts and not opinion. A guy that has a very jermaine kearse jersey unique ability even amoungst other great players. In the summerleague Waitors took a early charge jordan leggett jersey call or two and then every time he drove after that the other games he did sort of a Westbrook lay up where you slide by a guy laying up in full stride.
