Right? How about NFL legal folks. They jobs revolve around advising Goodell. He isn a man with a legal background. Not evident, however, was the SF skillset many felt he possessed, as he finished an abysmal 9 52 (17.3%) on jump shots at UK. In addition, some teams believe his foot did not correctly heal from a surgery on a broken foot he obtained in his senior year of high school. Apparently, the foot was fine during his workout and he impressed to the point where the Lakers are hoping to plug him in right away.

The truth is steroids produce a mess for the MLB. I have provided three reasons as to why steroids are damaging baseball. First, players are getting fined, suspended, and ejected from the league due to the use of these drugs. Last week's win against the Seahawks said a lot about them. I'm assuming they get a few of their injured players back this week and win at home. (The spread is a pick 'em in the Yahoo Pro Football Pick'em.).
