Neurosurgeon Dr. Julian Bailes said on Tuesday that he disagrees with his colleague Dr. Bennet Omalu, who wrote in the New York Times on Monday that he believes children should be barred from football, hockey, boxing, mixed martial arts and other contact sports.

The Texans couldn't do much right on a day their home stadium was overtaken by vocal Steelers fans waving their Terrible Towels. One of the few highlights came on an acrobatic 3 yard touchdown reception by DeAndre Hopkins in the fourth quarter. Hopkins deflected the ball with his right hand, reeled it in with his left and got both feet down before falling out of bounds for his NFL best and franchise record 13th touchdown reception.

Then you get to sit back, have a cold beer and enjoy your nice green lawn with no ugly purple brisly estime jersey leaves cluttering it up. Hey, that it!! Viking fans! You now have an actual valid excuse for not raking your leaves, besides being depressed as in previous years. Maybe that might get you to the post season! Could this be the anti jinx you guys need? Maybe that how you can finally end your shame! Lord knows, if I was from Minnesota, I would try anything to end my crappy luck.

We've spent so much time over the years talking about how various Eagles teams are talented but don't know how to win. Can't will tye jersey finish. Don't have hoodies what it takes at the end of games. Well, that may be true, but more than likely that 7'4 gentleman would not be in the NBA. I like the formula they used for how much your length is greater than your body. With that, the following were in the "freakishly long" category according to provided data, by most to still freakish but lesser so (granted they used height with shoes, which can at times be misleading):.

Crashes the glass on offense. Does an excellent job of keeping the ball high on offensive rebounds and not letting smaller defenders get a hand on it Can face up and shoot, all the way out to the three if the defender is sagging off Reliable, good teammate who has the ability to put his team t—shirts on his back. Active, doesn take plays off.

The couple of commenters saying how should he have acted after losing. How about act like an adult and answers the questions. Yes it not fun, yes you are probably upset that you lost, but act like a damn professional. Jennings proposed that the NHL add two new teams on the American West Coast for the 1964 65 season, basing his argument on concerns that the Western Hockey League intended to operate as a major league in the near future and possibly compete against the NHL for talent; he also hoped that a West Coast presence would make the NHL truly national and improve the league's chances of returning to national television in the United States (its broadcast deal with CBS expired in 1960). While the governors did not agree to Jennings' proposal, the topic of expansion came up every time the owners met from then on out. In 1965, it was decided to expand by six teams, doubling the size of the NHL.
