Defensive ends line up on the ends of the line, while defensive tackles line up inside, between the hoodies defensive ends. The primary responsibilities of defensive ends and defensive tackles is to stop running plays on the outside and inside, respectively, to pressure the quarterback on passing plays, and to occupy the line so that the linebackers can break through.[45].

felt it was time to go with Daunte and see if he can give us a little spark," and "It's nothing against Josh."[105][107] McCown ended up being inactive for the Vikings game due to his injury.[108][105] Culpepper then started the next game against the Kansas City Chiefs. However, he suffered a sore quadriceps during the game that intensified later in the week.[109] Due to his injury, Culpepper did not play in another game that season.[110][111] McCown started the next game against the Denver Broncos.[112] During the game, McCown threw for 141 yards, three touchdowns, no interceptions and a then career high 125.2 passer rating as the Raiders beat the Broncos by a score of 34 20.[113] McCown then started the next three games.[56] However, number one overall draft pick JaMarcus Russell played the majority of McCown's third start.[114] Russell also started the final game of the season.[115][116].
