The Saints offense needs no introduction, as record breaking quarterback Drew Brees will make use of a number of targets. Top rated tight end Jimmy Graham is defying his position at this point because of his productivity. We know about most of Brees targets (Marques Colston, Kenny Stills, Robert Meachem) but keep an eye on rookie Brandin Cooks out of Oregon State.

Spud webbs vertical was 42"inches. I guess some ppl did it with 3 maybe 4. Lol. I have always had a difficult time with the question "What do you want to be when you grow up?" There are too many things that grab and hold my interest, for a little while at least. I have always known that I wanted to go to college, why I didn't do so immediately after high school is a mystery to me but, I'm finally here and I intend to get every possible thing out of it that I can. I know it's not necessary to decide on a specific degree tract freshman year but let's face facts; I'm 30 years old with two unhealthy parents that need my help, and a niece and nephew that have been taken from their parents and placed in my care in other words, there's no time like the present to stop being wishy washy about the future.
