If there is one message that Jrgen Klopp has to drum into his defenders before Friday night's Merseyside derby, it is to resist the temptation to place their hands on any Everton attackers in their own area. Manage that and Liverpool should be capable of extinguishing the frustration of last month's draw with Sam Allardyce's side, when Dejan Lovren conceded a late penalty with a needless and clumsy push on Dominic Calvert Lewin. Klopp turned on plenty of people after the game even a member of Everton's press team was in the firing line after Wayne Rooney's penalty but Lovren was the real culprit and it is telling that Liverpool have lorenzo mauldin jersey bolstered their defence by spending 75m on Virgil van Dijk.
