I have been arguing about this a lot over the past year with my friend Todd, who is a football fan and also a good person, I believe. Todd's defense of professional football is based on the notion of freedom: NFL players are adults, he says, and they should be free to do whatever they want with their bodies, including destroy them by playing a game for which they get paid a lot of money. You're getting plenty of fire collaborations on this soundtrack. Big Boi's "Kill Jill" features a ridiculous verse from Killer Mike and a classic hook from Jeezy. The Pro Bowl roster of A$AP Rocky, Quavo, Uzi, Frank Ocean, and Playboi Carti sets it off on "RAF." Just imagine what it would sound like if Antonio Brown, Odell Beckham Jr., and Julio Jones lined up on the same team.
