Ideas may be simple, but what makes simple idea a great one is interest. I believe that a person's interest in any field makes him produce great ideas and achieve big. The technology I chose might be different to the typical smartphone and satellite theories but it has certainly made a huge impact and will continue to revolutionize the world.

The European Union Tissue and Cells Directives (EUTCD) were followed, and protocols were developed to manufacture these cells to clinical grade, using xeno free conditions, compliant with GMP. An extensive quality control panel was established including performance parameters such as cell viability, cell adherence and proliferation, cell immunophenotype, cell tri lineage differentiation potential, as well as various safety parameters. For the originally planned co loading of stem cells and IL 37 in the conduit, very high cell adhesion, viability and proliferation were shown, comparable to those of non IL 37 loaded conduits, demonstrating no negative impact of this cytokine on these parameters.
